With the exhibition Christian Hutzinger: Signal 3, the gezwanzig Showroom Tyrol is opening its third exhibition in the exhibiting space at Leopoldstraße 41, 6020 Innsbruck.

„In the exhibition „Signal 3“ Christian Hutzinger presents ten new, small-format works on canvas that represent a further development of his long-standing preoccupation with a highly reduced visual and formal language.

The pictorial elements, which evoke a wide variety of associations with things in the real world, are increasingly developing into hermetically sealed and symmetrical constellations. They glow in bold, signal-like colours and enter into dialogue with their surroundings with quiet intensity.

The octagonal basic form underlines the modular nature of these works, which sometimes dock directly onto each other and form clusters.

The superficial austerity of the works is repeatedly undermined: individual pictorial elements leave their place, which corresponds to the apparent order and logic, a superfluous element appears and causes confusion..."
